Stockholder

Adam Carter Rose is Chair of the Health Care Practice Area and Co-Chair of the Nonprofit Organizations Practice Area, as well as a Stockholder, at Reid and Riege. Adam is AV® Preeminent™ Martindale-Hubbell Peer Review Rated (the highest possible rating in both legal ability and ethical standards). For over a decade, Adam has worked with physician practices and for profit and nonprofit health care and human services organizations across Connecticut on corporate, employment, regulatory, and transactional matters.

Adam serves as outside general counsel and special counsel to a wide array of health and human service organizations (community hospitals, behavioral health providers, FQHCs, community living arrangements, hospice and home health providers, family services agencies, etc.) and medical practices ranging in size from “supergroups” to solo practices, covering a number of specialties (radiology, pathology, gastroenterology, anesthesiology, orthopedics, general surgery, oral surgery, ophthalmology, primary care, OB/GYN, podiatry, dentistry, etc.), in addition to servicing the employment and other needs of individual health care professionals.

Some of Adam’s focuses include:

- Federal and state regulatory compliance, counseling, and defense (including Stark law, fraud and abuse, false claims, and tax exempt matters);
- Physician practice governance and employment (buy-sell arrangements, bylaws/operating agreements, employment agreements, and noncompetition counseling);
- Mergers, acquisitions, and affiliations;
- Complex professional service arrangements and joint ventures;
- State agency service and grant contracts (DMHAS, DDS, DSS, and DCF);
- Privacy counseling (HIPAA, Part 2, Connecticut statutory privileges);
- Managed care contract negotiations and disputes;
- Medicare/Medicaid/commercial payor coverage and reimbursement compliance and audit defense;
- Physician and facility licensure and Certificate of Need matters;
- Health care related white collar defense (OIG, DEA, and DCP Drug Control investigations); and
